

Science PUB | RVA absorb something

Talk Science & Culture Over A Sip of Some Sort

Brief, Lively Talks followed by Longer Q&A Discussions

Ahkinyala Cobb-Abdullah, PhD

September 17, 2018

Toxic Air in Urban Veggie Gardens

A Virginia Union scientist gives us the dirt on the relationship between plants, pollutants, and the produce on our plates.

October 30, 2018

Visualize This

Several speakers and fields featured in an evening of Lightning Talks on the theme of visualizing science.

Carolyn Roberts, PhD

January 30, 2019 Presented with

Hidden Histories of Medicine, Slavery, and Resistance

A Yale historian shares some hidden histories of African American medical practitioners during slavery.

Michelle Peace, PhD

February 12, 2019

Forensic Science in an Opioid Landscape

A VCU researcher describes the scientific challenges and solutions of the opioid epidemic in crime labs.

Rayvon Fouche, PhD

April 8, 2019 Presented with

How Technology Changes Sports

A Purdue University historian discusses his research on the impact of technoscience on the games we love to watch and play.

Robert Cox, PhD

May 7, 2019

The Biology of Sexual Conflict

A UVA scientist discusses how and why the evolutionary interests of males and females are not always aligned.

Summer 2019

Dissecting Science: Chasing the Moon

A special program at the Community Idea Stations' Television Studio.

Adults 21 & up -- Venues and Start Times Announced Two Weeks Prior to each Pub

Sign up for email reminders @ ideastations.org/SMnews

A program of Science Matters, an educational initiative of community

idea stations

PBS

